Mediq expands in Nordics with UpViser Oy acquisition

Mediq has acquired UpViser Oy, a Finnish leading provider of surgical and endotherapy products that focuses on gastroenterology, gynecology, plastic surgery and urology. Its customers include the largest hospitals in the Nordic countries. The acquisition of UpViser and its subsidiaries in Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Estonia is an important step in Mediq's strategy to be the leading European player in device-led hospital solutions. 'UpViser is an innovative company that strengthens our ability to provide solutions and services to hospitals and enables us to accelerate our growth in the Nordics. We gladly welcome their team of highly skilled professionals to our group', says Mediq CEO Christian Wojczewski.

Complementary strengths

The acquisition complements Mediq's Nordic Hospital Solutions portfolio aimed to support healthcare institutions and professionals in providing best possible care. It also provides access to new product segments such as endotherapy. 'Over the years, UpViser has built partnerships with leading suppliers. We are impressed with their track record and believe that our complementary strengths and culture make UpViser and Mediq an excellent combination', Wojczewski states.
